

Name: Henrick Tolmen
Kindred: Human
Background: Stablehand
Class: Friar
Level: 1

Description: At 6'2" and 133 lbs, Brother Henrick is a beanpole of a man, which did him no favors when stacking hay in his former life as a stablehand. He stands out from other friars due to his intricately embroidered skullcap and robes depicting the deeds of several saints—a gift from the friar that led him to his new calling—which he wears over his more orthodox friar's habit. His bristly black beard and the perpetual dirt on his prominent nose signify a man who lives on the road.

Henrick is generous with his time and coin, always eager to support the downtrodden and to share his love of the One True God. He's eager to guide others toward a life of faith as he once was, but first and foremost prioritizes the health and contentment of those who cross his path. He does not always align with the practices of the Pluristine Church as an institution (partially due to his suspicion that the Bishop is a werewolf).

In addition to his duties as an itinerant spiritual guide, Brother Hendrick seeks to map the stones throughout Dolmenwood in hopes of coming to a better understanding of their nature.

GM: Matt

Bard: Trick of the Light (Lucien) · Melissa

Knight: Boots

Hunter: Gwomaton Mugfoam

Thief: Jack Flippancey

250 years ago: · Abbey something happened 250 yrs ago
· can't enter
· shrines in woods

· Church of St. Pasterly in Lankshorn

· Starting date year: 873

Month 4 - Sinswald (start of spring)

Day - 23 (chime)

· Moot in 2 days - Market day in Lankshorn

weather: Blustery drizzle (wet conditions)

Laylesharn:

- Market town
- Human Breggle mix + mixed breed
- Staying Hornstoot's Rest Inn
 - Sign: white stork with red horns on purple couch
 - Legend creature in great oak trees
- Margery Stallowinead, 3 sons, 1 daughter - mix breed

- Uleg the breggle sitting with us
- Drinking Bart's Cordiat ↗ mid-day
- Strange pipe music in eastern woods
 - Pulls at heart ↗ says - loves books
 - Emelda missing 1 week + Farnham Ribbleweed
- ↳ Good singer

- Not known for Travelling
- Acted normal before vanishing
- Farnham sending a letter
- Constable and Burgmeister offers coin for crook horns
- Drumen Knoll: Fairy keep
- Grimalkin favored drink in Bayways - only place to stable animals

Lump Bayhorn and Wimsley - Nippers: Fermented Catnip

pencil stencils gumming went bad woods to west: statue to St. ^{Mursey centuries ago} Friders ^{the wretched minor saint}

→ (rural land, not liked - Red with manor

High wall (used to be owned by house Ramius
- Lord Malbleat considered another owner 20 yrs ago
- split high wall in half

Church, Inn, ^{st. Pasterly} bladesmith, apothecary, ^{good place} standing stones

Dreg to East, manor to North, West unimportant

Church of St. Pasterly

- Antique stone tall steepie gargoyles + Angels fighting
- Inside is plain unlike outside
- Statue of saint (wood, short + clever)
- Father Doby: troubled by Mabbie's main servant disappeared
↓
3 days ago
- Eerie tomb

Short Portly
white hair,
simple clothes

Came together to buy a bow for Hunter

Ring of mossy standing stones on hill outside of town, no path

Road - the Ditchway, sandy banks on either side
Beech forest, eyeless worms 6 ft long
↓ Immature nightworm spawn

Gwom spots roots in path, spherical wood beads found in track

Thief 2
Crumbling wall → Fallen tower now rubble open archway
Ruined fort. Can hear pipe music

- Horns clashing with pipe music

- Breggle speech (Gaff)

- Back of keep has holes but blocked by growth

- Cats go to spy on Breggles (Crockhorn in tower)

- Lucian + Gwom sneak around other side

- Henrick stays on road

- Breggle talking about eating, insulting fairies, drunk

- Square courtyard → campfire w/ meat roasting, sacks, bedrolls

- Four Crockhorns dancing and playing the brass & drum music

- pipe music coming from another source

- Boots unnoticed, Jack noticed when sneaking in keep

- Crockhorns want to catch Jack for meat

- Spear thrown at Jack but Jack avoids it and escapes

- Lucian, Gwom, Henrick in trees behind peak

- Jack sneaking hoping to back stab

- Boots sneaking to other side lying in wait

- Jack sneaks up to guard on tower, nat 1 on back steps

Breggle names: Berk and Drogha

- Henrick + Lucian missing sling shots, Gwom striking free w/ bow

Boots in invisible form

Jack gets a backstab in woods

Icy
Breeze from downstairs, reminds of winter

Scat visible from rubble hole, squeaking sounds

Session 2:

- We actually only killed 4 crookhorns. One fled into the dungeon below, unscathed Ribble-mead
- We have yet to learn what kind of Sage Farnham is
- Llerg is a hunter, sells meat to the Inn
- Father Dobby is a vicar, his servant's name is spelled Mabble.
- Gwomotom knows that nightworms get 8-10 feet long, 10 feet in diameter. Live in underground tunnels. Edible, but can constrict you and eat you back.
- We pile the 4 bodies together (crookhorns)
- 90° turn down the stairs
- Sound of quiet breathing, probably crookhorn
- Marching order: Tonkin, Jack, Lucien, Henrick, Gwomotom
- Jack lights a torch
- 10 foot ceilings - Very worn flagstones. Damp and crumbling stone floor, walls, ceiling
- Torch illuminates a strange-looking animal
- We enter dungeon from the north.
- 25 ft by 25 ft room

- Rope around creature's neck - tied against wall
- 2 headed chicken creature - purple gobble red and black feathers
- One sleeping head, one notices us.
- Lucien our monster lore expert has never seen anything like it. Likely a mutant.
- 3 foot tall
- Agitated at our presence
- Tries to get us as we enter the room, rope stops it
- 10 ft wide entrance on opposite side of room
- Gwomatom wants the heads as trophies
- Jack moves in with dagger but gets bit and severely wounded on account of the two heads
- Henrick natural 1 on sling attack
 - Hits Gwomatom
- Jack nicks the monster with dagger
- Gwomatom beheads both heads
- Henrick prays for Jack and heals him.
 - Can't cure Gwomatom until the next day
- Lucien listens at the door - hears hushed whispers of ^{Crook-horns} ↑
- Gwomatom is harvesting the monster corpse
- Jack and Tomkin are checking down the hallway and find three paths
- Frescoes on walls - white humanoid silhouettes in icy forest. Probably elves. Mostly faded